

“Give Your Right Arm, Elbow Today”

a comedy sketch idea suggestion
by Jonathan D. Steinhoff, 1.17.14

Can you legally sign an employment contract wherein you agree it is to be rendered void should you marry? Is this right something you can trade on for money?

Parody of TV commercial for legal firm that's there to help you do the paperwork – so that you can start making tons of money sacrificing your legally protected rights.

Ever want to chop off your arm for someone willing to pay you 500 bucks for it, 500 bucks you needed right away, only to find you couldn't legally do this? Ever wish the government wouldn't shut down some company for putting their employees in dangerous workplaces?

There are tons of money-making opportunities you are being denied. Let us help you bypass the legal obstacles others face, and start getting rich today!

A man without any arms or legs, a satisfied customer, then describes how this law firm helped him make money.